

EduNet Webinar Agenda

EduNet Webinar: Race Racism and Medical Disparities

Length: 1.0 Hour

Course Description: This webinar will discuss how race plays a part in our healthcare decisions and delivery and how to be more aware of how we serve our patients.

Learning Objectives:

1. A recognition of race as an independent factor in health equity
2. An understanding of the barriers to health equity with specifics discussions of the social determinants of health that affect health outcomes for Americans
3. A recognition of the demographics of the health care system
4. A clearer sense of how implicit biases and stereotyping on the part of providers impacts racial disparities in health care
5. An understanding of how education on issues of race, racism and whiteness can help provide a critical race lens for providers
6. Concrete tools for moving towards health equity and improving our self-efficacy in treating our patients of color

Instructor Bio: Stephen Nelson, M.D.

Stephen Nelson, MD, attended medical school and completed his pediatric residency at Eastern Virginia Medical School in Norfolk, Virginia. His pediatric hematology/oncology fellowship was completed at Duke University Medical Center in Durham, North Carolina. Dr. Nelson joined the hematology/oncology program at Children's of Minnesota in 1993. He is the co-director of the Vascular Anomalies Center. His interests include caring for patients with sickle cell disease and working to decrease racial health care disparities.

Continuing Education:

This webinar was designed for the purpose of professional education and development; however is not approved for continuing education credits by any crediting or licensing board. Professionals are responsible for determining whether this activity meets the requirements for acceptable education may request credit through their individual states and/or licensing board.

Course Coordinator:

Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Cerina Marlar, Program Manager at cerina.marlar@childrensmn.org or by phone at 952-992-5277 or 612-396-4631 (cell).

The Midwest Regional CAC is supported through grant funding from the Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention. *Please note there were no conflicts of interest noted on behalf of the moderator or presenter.